Maintenance

If the stand does not maintain the current set height, the rubber grips might have worn out. To replace these, pull the stand up about halfway and unscrew the pole from the base – you will need to keep the handle squeezed and remove the top half of the stand. Remove the rubber grips and replace with new ones. Squeeze the handle to replace back into the stand and screw the collar into place.

If you require extra rubber grips, please contact your retailer/dealer.
